Who should attend?

The TOGAF certification is ideal for anyone looking to excel in an IT organization that values seamless information flow across and between enterprises. It is best suited for:

- Enterprise Architecture Professionals
- Business Architects
- IT Architects
- Individuals who require a deeper understanding of TOGAF

Benefits

TOGAF certified professionals share common knowledge and expertise that can help these individuals better identify business needs.

Speak a Language Common to all Professionals in Your Field - Working as a TOGAF professional requires a great deal of communication. You plan and implement an IT environment for your organization, which requires you to interact with other professionals. As a certified professional, you learn to speak the language common to all professionals in your field.

Most organizations seek ways to do the most with the least amount of time and effort. This principle is the focus of TOGAF. A TOGAF course trains you on how to perform tasks with efficiency. This training could reduce your company's costs and increase its profit margins.

A TOGAF certification mixes the technical with the management aspects of IT and as a result is a great stepping stone for aspiring managers. TOGAF professionals often design IT infrastructure keeping a bird-eye view on things, which means that they have to consider and weigh different perspectives when implementing a project.
